Looking for Patterns in a Character's Reactions to Challenges

As you follow a character's journey up and down the story mountain, he/she will encounter hurdles and problems. It's important to not only notice these, but how a character reacts to and tackles them. Does he/she tackle them head-on? Does he/she avoid them? Does he/she shut down? Does he/she seek advice from someone else? Does he/she tuck his/her trouble deep down inside?

Character: _____

Using the information you just charted, can you look across your character's reactions to grow a theory about your character?

Theory:

When faced with trouble, _____ is the kind of person who...

_____.

This shows me that he/she is _____.
